THE WORKSHOPS

April 6 - Join Peter Dugas* for an introductory tour of MIT's EN-ROADS Climate Simulator, and how it informs the search for effective and equitable climate policy on the local, national, and international levels.

April 13 - Paul and Cynthia Stancioff* will share how homeowner consumer choices can significantly impact our household carbon footprint.

April 20 - Steve Kahl* will share how to use renewable energy as a key for achieving a "net zero" home to "save the planet for our grandchildren and make our own lives better."
